Rebel Forces Close In

Saigon, Apr. 4.

Anti-government forces closed in on the gates of Saigon today 24 hours before the truce between rebel warlords and the South Vietnam government was to end.

General Bacut, commander of the private army of the Hoa Hao sect, has concentrated 12 battalions - some 6,000 men — on the city from the region he controls southwest of Saigon.

This force will support the 9,000 troops already in the capital under the command of the Binh Xuyen private army, & which today threatened to blow up South Vietnam's security headquarters if its forces are attacked.

General Paul Ely, French Commander - in - Chief. was active behind the scenes trying to prolong the truce he secured last Wednesday after street battles between the opposing sides in which about 100 people were killed or injured.

Mr Ngo Dinh Diem, the Prime Minister, has about 12,000 wellequipped troops of the National army to throw into any battle launched by the warlords to overthrow his government.

UK Protests To Greece

Over Cyprus Broadcasts

OBJECTIONABLE CH4RACTER

London, Apr. 4. Britain is making strong representations to Greece against "the most objectionable character of the broadcasts in the Cyprus service" of the Government-controlled Athens Radio, the Foreign Office said today.

It said that "the incitements to violence" in some recent broadcasts "cannot be dissociated from the outbreak of terrorism" in Cyprus. ENVOY INSTRUCTED Sir Charles Peake, British Ambassador to Greece. has been instructed to make "strong representations" to this effect, the Foreign Office"

The Foreign Office statement followed four days of bomb outrages in the British island colony of Cyprus. Greece supports the "Enosis" movement for the union of the island with Greece.

Asked to give instances of "objectionable" broadcasts, the spokesman said that on January 31, Athens Radio had quoted approvingly from an article in the Greek newspaper, Ellinikos

This advocated the shipping of guns and gunpowder to the British colony so that the Cypriots might "fight for their freedom." On March 18, Athens Radio Encels movement against the magazine. He made these other Cyprus authorities could not go points: on.-Reuter.

Funeral Of Italian Victims Of Mine Disaster

The whole town of Spoilto, Italy, was a mourning for the funeral of the 22 coal. miners who were killed when an explosion occurred underground in the gallery in which they were working. There were harrowing scenes as the wives and children, and relatives, of the victims, took their last farewells as the coffins on which the dead miners' helmets were placed, left for the cemetery. SEVEN BRIDES for Seven Brothers

MILLY BROWN, of the town of Oregon in 1860. marries Adam Pontipee, who has come down from the hills in search of a bride. But when she returns with him to his farm she finds that living there too are his six brothers, as rough and tough as himself-and all unmarried.

The prospect of mending and tending for seven such men appals her—so she spruces up her six brothers-in-law and tells them they must each go to town to find a bride too.

Sydney. A S Australians tightened their belts A again this week for another round of austerity, politicians were asking themselves a strange question: "Can a country develop too fast?"

The Australian story is an odd one from start to finish.

But the basic fact is this: Of just under 9,000,000 Australians, half live in six big cities. A third live in two cities alone: Sydney and Melbourne.

On paper, Australia is one of the most scantily populated countries in the world. with just 294 people for every 100 square miles, compared with 4,340 in the United States and 58,780 in Japan. But even before you get to the problem of the cities, the figures begin to appear distorted.

For instance, five million Australians live in three relatively small states-Victoria, New South Wales and the island of Tasmania. Victoria has 2,682 people for every 100 square miles. The vast Northern Territory has only three inhabitants for every 100.

Australia's problem is that the population is concentrated into one corner and much of it is packed into a handful of

Australians just prefer to live

With working hours as short as any in the world, no unemployment, and a welfare state which ensures that even the lowest paid worker can live in comparative luxury, there is everything to attract them.

But that is just where the problem emerges. With the big wages and long hauls to world markets, Australla just can't compete in the manufactured goods market. On the other hand, even with her vastly overgrown urban populations, the ecumitry still can't produce many of the goods it needs. Heavy machinery. automobiles, refrigerators, farm equipment and dozens of other kinds of manufactured goods must still be imported. All there is to sell is agricultural produce. And there just isn't enough of it.

The ratio of the agricultural to the urban population means that Australia must actually import food.

About all that's left is wool and wheat-a lot of wool not so much wheat. A small fluctuation in the world wool price could bankrupt To try to right the balance, Australia encouraged large-scale

JOBODY could successfully maintain that today's hand as bid scientifically. North might well have kept quiet with his miserable hand instead of doubling the only contract that he had any defence against.

When North did double, East might well have kept quiet with his even more miserable hand. Finally, when South bid three spades, there was no need for West to double.

In view of the bidding, West could hardly expect to win more than three aces; and this was not enough for a double that promised five defensive tricks.

All might still have worked it the time for "putting large out well for the defenders, if amounts of additional spending West had opened the king of power into the pockets of the public clubs and then shifted to hearts. Advanced Shots - Practice Makes Perfect

Let's look this week at some advanced snooker playing which at the same time will give the not-so-advanced player something interesting to practise.

You will be doing well if you can tackle this position successfully. It is one which faced me in a recent club exhibition, when I required two blacks and all the colours to win. The thin cut stroke which I talked about in my last article helped me to victory.

Look at Diagram A and right-hand side cushion and decide how you would proceed finish in a good position for

I used right-hand side for potting the blue into the middle left-hand pocket; the white ball came away tast from the top left-hand side cushion to pass between the pink and the black and settle at X8.

A delicate acrew was now necessary for potting the pink into the top left-hand corner pocket. I struck the cue-ball low and screwed into position X9 for taking the black into the top right-hand corner pocket.

Of course this mode of play is advanced, but that is no reason why the beginner should not attempt it. I have placed took aim from the left edge of this and similar positions on the table for several of my beginner pupils and together we have taken the shots one by one. In every case it has been worth trying—so don't be put off when I talk of "side", "screw", "stun" or the "thin cut."

At a meeting of the Execuive Council of the Hougkong Amateur Swimming Association held yesterday, it was decided to hold the annual crossharbour race on Sunday, October 2, at 10 a.m.

The decision came as the Committee considered a report from the Championships Committee who also recommended that the Junior and Senior Colony Championships be heid towards the end of August. Mr A. de O. Sales, President, was in the Chair, assisted by Mr H. W. Winglee, Hon. Secretary, and Mr E. A. da Roza, Hon, Treasurer, The meeting, approved a recommendation of the Championships Committee that there be nine events in the Men's Senior Colony Championships, eight in the Women's Senior. eight in the Men's Junior and seven in the Women's Ju-

Heats were proposed to be held on August 29 and 31. September 1 and 2, the finals on September 10, 13, 15 and 17, at the European YMCA, commencing at 8 p.m. On the question of registration of players, it was decided after some discussion that a and must confine his services to branches.

A report from the Water Polo Committee was next con-

Release Of Chinese Students Hailed

NEWSPAPERS APPROVE

New York, Apr. 4. The American decision to allow 76 Chinese students — with a knowledge of atom physics to return to China was supported today by the New York Times as "the right thing to do."

The newspaper said that the decision might make it easier for the United Nations Secretary-General, Mr Dag Hammarskjold, to carry out his mission to secure the release of American fliers and civilians held by China - though 'no overt bargain" was made to exchange these students for the detained Americans.

Constellation For Trade

Luckheed Aircraft Corporation has announced it will build a turboprop version of its Super Constellation commercial transport plane which will be ready to go into airline service in the second quarter of 1957.

The projected plane, to be designated Model 1449, will have a new wing and will be powered by four Pratt and Whitney PT2 (T34) turboprop engines rated at 6,000 horsepower each. The Company claims it will be "the world's fastest long range, most economical, propeller-driven trans-,

The first of these, the Chipmunk trainer, will shortly be put into production again for the Royal Canadian Air Force to replace its Harvard trainers. Already more than a thousand Chipmunks have been built in Great Britain and Canada, many of them for the Royal Air Force.

The second D.H. Canada design, the Beaver, was designed for Canadian 'bush' flying. More than 800 have been built, all of them in Canada, and the aircraft is now serving in twentyeight countries. The manufacturers were quick to follow up the Beaver's success with a larger 'bush' aircraft, the Otter, which can carry thirteen passengers. One hundred Otters had already been sold to buyers in Canada, Norway, Colum-bia and the Philippines when United States recently placed an order for 90 8½ million dollars. The total value of Chipmunk, Otter Beaver orders exceeds £20,000,000

Special Issues Move Widely

New York, Apr. 4. Stocks gave ground near the close today leaving most issues a fraction either side of their previous figures — a picture enlivened only by wide moving special issues.

The selling flurry came late in the day after stocks had falled to generate any real enthusiasm on the upside. There was no pressure, however, and turnover totalled only 2,500,000 shares, compared with 2,680,-000 on Friday.

Biggest volume came early in the day on the weekend accumulation-of-orders.—Baldwin-Lima-Hamilton opened on 18,000-share block and Benguet Consolidated appear on a 20,-.000-shares transaction list. Selling ex-dividend, it dropped 34

Australia's Over-Importing Is Chronic

Bank Survey Deplores Postwar Tendency

The steadily growing adverse balance of payments and the accompanying drain of oversea currency resources has been "perhaps the most significant single feature of the current financial year," states A.N.Z. Bank's Quarterly Survey released today.

"But the adverse movement on the oversea trading account has been due predominantly to the steep rise in imports.

FULL COURT QUASHES COMPENSATION AWARD

An order of certiorari to quash an award made by a Board of Arbitrators on May 21, 1954, in respect of the resumption of certain lots of Crown land in the New Territories was made by the Full Court this morning.

The compensation awarded by the Board was accordingly quashed. The grounds for the application for the order of certiorari were that the award, which was for the buildings erected on the lots, amounting to approximately $58,500, was in excess of jurisdiction and bad in law under reasons given by the Board in support of it.
